HOUSTON PARTY UNDERGO HARROWING HOLDUP EXPERIENCE

By Associated Press.

Houston, July 8.—Safely through an experience with a negro on the Galveston highway, who "shot to kill," Leopold Myers, credit manager, and Ralph Long, assistant credit manager, of the Foley Brothers Dry Goods Company, and their party were thankful to be alive Thursday and were not worried over the loss of money and jewelry.

Long is in the John Sealy hospital at Galveston with a bullet wound through his wrist, and the sedan in which the party was held up, riddled with bullets, was in the hands of Galveston police for a possible clue to the negro.

Mrs. Long, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Dundas, and Miss Bertha Sigman have recovered from the shock of the holdup, and were enroute back to Houston Thursday. Mr. Myers was to return lated in the day with Mr. Long.

The hold-up occurred not far from John's Place, at Oyster, near the Galveston end of the causeway, after Mr. Long was forced to bring the car to a halt at the point of a gun in the hands of the negro, clinging to the rear of the sedan.

Ordered to "hands up" at a ditch beside the road, the members of the party were robbed of about $250 in cash and a quantity of jewelry. Cursing violently, the negro forced the party to "get in the ditch" and then took his seat behind the steering wheel and sped away. The car was abandoned on the Sixty-first street road in Galveston.

Members of the party expressed the opinion that the negro concealed himself on the back of the sedan when the car was stopped for the interurban on the Galveston causeway and awaited his opportunity to call a halt.

Without uttering a word, according to Mr. Meyer, the negro fired a bullet through the top of the car. The party thought a light bulb in the top of the sedan had bursted.

The man fired again and yelled. This time, Mr. Meyer said, he and Long thought there was a holdup man in a car behind the sedan.

"I yelled to step on the gas," Meyers said, "and Long put on full speed. If we had had any notion that the badit was on the rear of the car, we would not have been so foolish as to keep going. A moment later Long was hit in the wrist, and we stopped."

Six shots were fired by the bandit through the rear window of the car and five of the bullets took effect in the car.

SECOND POWELL BANK ROBBER IS STILL AT LARGE

When the first Powell bank robber was captured in Fort Worth early this week on instruction from Chief of Police Knight from data secured by Patrolman Bruce Nutt and the chief, the robber, after a grilling, finally told who his companion was and the Chief wired the sheriff at Anardarko, Ok., that the man was wanted here on a bank robbery charge. The city marshal of Binger went to arrest the man and the alleged robber ran out the back way from the house and escaped into the nearby woods.

A search of several hours failed to locate him, it was stated, but it is expected that he will be apprehended in a short time, as he is known in that section of the state and has relatives there. It was thought early today that he was under arrest in Fort Worth, but in conversation with Chief of Detectives Tom Jackson, Chief Knight realized that the man being held was not the man wanted here. He is sanguine, however, that the second robber will be apprehended shortly.

MUCH INTEREST IS CREATED BY SWINK WELL OF SUN CO.

Quite a bit of interest has been stirred up in the Richland-Currie area in the southern part of Navarro county over the showings being made in the Sun Oil Company's well.

The well swabbed considerable oil Sunday and Monday, and will likely be good for two or three hundred barrels oil a day under the pump. The well is located on the Swink tract, and a number of wells have been drilled in that area during the last few months. This has proved to be a nice little field. The area has been considered newly discovered oil oil field, as it so far is not directly connected with either the Richland or Currie districts, but lies almost between the two older fields.

AUTO AND TRUCK IN COLLISION ON SECOND AVENUE

Shortly before 7 o'clock Tuesday morning on West Second avenue near the intersection of Nineteenth street a truck driven by K. Barnes and owned by Jim Carroll of Barry, and the Packard sedan driven by Sterling Hornbeak, met in collision with disastrous results to the truck and sedan, but no one was seriously hurt. Mr. Barnes stated one of his legs was slightly hurt.

According to statement of the parties concerned Mr. Hornbeak was going west on Second avenue and was passing an ice wagon at the curb. Mr. Barnes was going east on Second and was blinded by the sun in such a manner that he said he did not see Mr. Hornbeak's car until the crash came. Both vehicles were badly damaged. The truck had one front wheel broken to pieces and it was turned on its side in the street and otherwise badly damaged about the radiator and engine housing. Mr. Hornbeak's car was badly stove in on the left side about the engine, a wheel damaged and a fender smashed. How badly the engine was damaged was not learned.

The accident attracted a large crowd and it was stated by those who saw the accident that it was almost a miracle that none of the occupants of the sedan or truck were injured.

MANUFACTURERS AND SELLERS OF BEER TO BE HANDLED HERE

The Dean law will be rigidly enforced in Navarro county County Attorney Ballard W. George stated here Thursday in commenting on the news reports quoting certain officers that home brew beer can be made within the law.

Mr. George referred to the Dallas decision carried in the newspapers Wednesday bearing on the question of whether home brew can be made

There are two ways of proving beer or any concoctions made for beverage purposes are intoxicating Mr. George said.

The law will not allow choc beer, home brew, or beverage concoctions to be made for personal use, or for sale, that contain more than one percent by volume, Mr. George points out.

A laboratory test that shows beer contains more than one percent alcohol by volume, is on its face illegal, and where any beverages are taken that produce intoxication in the person so taking, is held to be intoxicating and illegal.

Mr. George declared that erroneous impressions have gone abroad following the seeming laxity of some officers and courts in hewing to the line on the question of intoxicating liquors.

"The liquor laws will be enforced and offenders will be diligently prosecuted so long as I am county attorney." Mr. George said emphatically.

JUDGE CLAIMS THAT ANALYSIS IS ONLY WAY PROVE CHARGE

By Associated Press.

Dallas, July 7.—Dallas residents may buy, sell or drink beer without fear of conviction under prohibition laws, in the opinion of city, state and Federal officers, commenting on District Judge C. A. Pippen's charge to the grand jury.

Judge Pippen adminished the grand jurors not to "waste time" indicting beer case defendants. He declared the state makes no financial provision to have been tested for alcoholic content, the only medium on which convictions can be secured.

District Attorney Shelby Cox and Sheriff Schuyler Marshall, whose deputies have been destroying huge quantities of beer, both said they have no funds to have chemical tests of beer made.

Don't Believe Fines Stick.

Corporation Judge W. C. Graves said he had been collecting fines for vagrancy in beer cases, but that he does not believe the fines would be allowed to stand on an appeal.

Assistant Federal District Attorney Randolph Caldwell declared he will not allow city and county officers to file beer cases in Federal court. He also said that the United States Government chemist at For Worh will not analyze beer for city or county officers.

Government prohibition agents have so much work to do that they are not inclined to make more beer raids, Caldwell said.

"When they do," he explained, "our offce accepts only complaints in aggravated cases."

Cox said he still will accept compaints in beer cases, but will require officers to note on the backs of complaints that the beer will be analyzed. He said he did not know who will pay to have it analyzed.

Unfortunate Situation.

"It is an unfortunate situation," Judge Pippen said. "But what can be done? Neither the district attorney or sheriff have a fund to have the beer analyzed. When they try a man in my court, for instance, and fail to prove the beer in evidence is intoxicating, what else can a jury do but acquit him?"

"It is only a violation of the Dean law to sell, make or possess intoxicating liquors. No reference is made to the term beer. The legislature has defined intoxicating liquor as a beverage containing more than one per cent of alcohol. Analysis is the only way to tell how much alcohol beer contains."

PALE & PEAKED

Texas Lady Was Advised by Her Mother To Take Cardui, Which She Did With Good Results.

Hamilton, Texas.—Mrs. Gladys Poitevint, of this city, says: "At times I suffered awfully with pains across my back and through my sides. I would have to go to bed and stay two or three days at a time. It was very worrisome. I managed to keep going, but ... did not enjoy myself at all.

"One day my mother remarked on how bad I looked. She said: 'You look so pale and peaked, why don't you take a bottle of Cardui?' She had taken it herself a number of times, and it had always improved her health, so she thought I had better try it.

"I got the Cardui and began taking it, and from the first dose or two I could see a change for the better. The first thing I noticed was that my appetite was improved. I began to be hungry and I enjoyed my meals. I slept better at night. My rest was so much quieter that I got the benefit from it. I kept on with the Cardui and took it for several months. The pains in my back and sides grew less until they finally quit bothering me."

"Corsicana Bill" Offers Another Suggestion For NON-TRADE-AT-HOMERS

Try This The Next Time That You Are Sick:

The next time that you get sick, just write down your symptoms on a slip of paper and send them away—cash with the order—to some doctor a thousand miles away. Tell him what you want and sit down and wait for your medicine. In due time, you will receive your medicine—doctors have to fill orders just the same as other people just the same as mail order houses.

You wouldn't do it—would you? When you are sick you want service—quick service—personal service — interested service—known and efficient service—don't you?

Doesn't the same principle apply to every dollar that you send away? and don't you want your dollar's worth. And if you don't get it, don't you want the opportunity of meeting the merchant who sold you what you ordered face to face and telling him what you think of what he sold you? If it is good, you will tell him so, and if it is not so good, you ALSO want to have the chance of telling him about it, don't you? Of course you do.

Who is so interested in giving you what you want as the home merchant? There is no substitute for face-to-face dealing, is there? Of coures there is not. You can get what you want in Corsicana.

Corsicana merchants will sell as reasonable as can be had, and if they fail to have some item in stock, they will order it for you and save you money. I will guarantee that he will get it for you as cheap and as good as you can buy it.

Yours,

"CORSICANA BILL."

STICK DYNAMITE FOUND IN BUNDLE WHEAT AT THRESHER

By Associated Press.

Chickasha, Okla., July 8.—Discovery of a stick of dynamite in a bundle of wheat as it neared the threshing machine on the W. H. Gilkey farm, west of Chickasha late yesterday, probably saved the lives of several members of the crew.

A wagon driver was pitching his load into the separator when he discovered the end of the stick of explosive protruding from a bundle.

This incident followed the discovery of a monkey wrench, pieces of iron bolts and nuts which had been secreted in bundles of wheat and which had gone into the machine, causing much damage and frequent breakdowns.

Officers are investigating.

Army Officer is Dead.

Washington, July 8. Colonel Howard R. Hickok, 56 years old, chief of staff of the Fifth Division in France, died here today.

DIAMOND RING IS RECOVERED FROM NEGRO WEDNESDAY

Chief of Police Will S. Knight was informed by Geo. W. Reid, watchmaker and engraver at Rhoads Bros. Jewelry Store, Tuesday night that a negro was suspected of having stolen a diamond ring from the Rhoades store and after giving a descripiton of the negro the chief once decided that Early Thoma, one of the negroes arrested and jailed in connection with the escape of the Powell bank bandits from Corsicana, was the negro wanted.

Chief Knight and Patrolman Bruce Nutt took the negro in charge and after a short grilling they had recovered the diamond ring and the negro faced another charge.

MAN ARRESTED IN FORT WORTH SAYS HE ROBBED BANK

OFFICER NUTT AND CHIEF KNIGHT RUN POWELL BANK ROBBER DOWN

One of the robbers who held up and robbed the Powell State Bank last Friday just after the noon hour, was arrested in Fort Worth Monday and brought back to Corsicana Tuesday and a short time after his arrival in custody of Police Officer Bruce Nutt and Deputy Sheriff Rufus Pevehouse, he had, made a complete confession. Chief of Police Will Knight stated Tuesday afternoon The man's name, he stated, was Kid Luckey, and he was also identified by Cashier H. H. Hanks of the Powell Bank as being the older of the two men who robbed the bank.

On last Friday at 12:15 o'clock two men entered the Powell State Bank where Cashier Hanks was alone at the time, walked up to the cage and one man ordered the cashier to keep quiet while the other ransacked the cage for cash, taking some $241 and making their escape after ordering the cashier into the vault of the bank. It being the noon hour it was hard to get in communication with officers, it was stated, but Chief of Police Will Knight was in his office and he was informed of the robbery.

Later the county officers were notified and they also went to work on the case, but Chief Knight assigned Bruce Nutt, city patrolman, to the case and he worked upon it until he finally got a lead that put him on the trail of the robbers. He found a man in Corsicana who had talked with the men and got a description which made it easy of identification. He gave his findings to Chief Knight who was aiding in the case and supervising it. Chief of Detectives T. W. Jackson of Fort Worth was called and Chief Knight gave him a description of the man wanted and other information that soon led to his apprehension and landing in jail.

Upon being informed that his man was under arrest, Chief Knight sent Bruce Nutt, accompanied by Rufus Pevehouse, to Fort Worth after the man, who gave his name as Kid Luckey. They arrived in Corsicana with their prisoner near noon Tuesday and he was closeted with the Chief for only a short time before he admitted that he was one of the men robbing the Powell bank and stated that he and a companion came hrough this section and decided they would hold up the bank and get some cash. He gave his name as Kid Luckey and stated that he was 26 years old and made a complete confession. Chief Knight stated a short time after the arrival of the prisoner here.

Cashier Hanks was notified and asked to come in and see if the prisoner was one of the men wanted. Hanks stated that he was one of the men who held him up and that he seemed to be the leader. Mr. Hanks stated that he was alone in the bank at the time of the robbery and that he was sitting reading when two men entered. He glanced up and believed them to be oil field workers who wanted to cash their checks and that he expected them to endorse them at the public desk in the lobby of the bank. Instead they came on back to the cage and one of the men (the man under arrest) said, "Keep quiet." When he looked up, Mr. Hanks stated, he was gazing into a small caliber revolver. He at first thought it a prank but soon saw that the man was a stranger. While one man held a gun on him he other came around and scooped up all the money in sight and Hanks was then ordered into the vault.

The day gate prevented the locking of the vault and Mr. Hanks believed this fact caused the men to leave in greater haste than they otherwise would have done. Other money on hand was overlooked by the robbers, he stated.

Chief Knight stated that after abandoning the automobile in which they made their escape near Chambers creek, the robbers made their way to Corsicana and on the eastern suburbs, near Bunert Park, a negro resort, they hired a negro service car driver to take them to Fort Worth.

The man arrested was transferred to the county jail Tuesday afternoon where he will be held pending further developments in the case. Chief Knight stated that Officer Nutt deserved much credit for the manner in which he had handled his part of the work and that he expected to have the other man in custody within a short time.

This is the first bank robbery in Navarro county for many years, at least, and the fact that the guilty party has been apprehended in quick time will no doubt have a deterrent effect on those who would attempt to rob banks in this section.

CHILDHOOD AND EDUCATION OF MOSES.

Scripture Lesson—Exod. 2. 1-10.

1 And there went a man of the house of Levi, and took to wife a daughter of Levi.

2 And the woman conceived, and bare a son: and when she saw his that he was a goodly child, she hid him three months.

3 And when she could not longer hide him, she took for him an ark of bulrushes, and daubed it with slime and with pitch, and put the child therein; and she laid it in the flags by the river's brink.

4 And his sister stood afar off, to wit what would be done to him.

5 And the daughter of Pharaoh came down to wash herself at the river; and her madiens walked along by the river's side; and when she saw the ark among the flags, she sent her maid to fetch it.

6 And when she had opened it, she saw the child: and, behold, the babe wept. And she had compassion on him, and said, This is one of the Hebrews' children.

7 Then said his sister to Pharaoh's daughter, Shall I go and call to thee a nurse of the Hebrew women, that she may nurse the child for thee?

8 And Pharaoh's daughter said to her, Go. And the maid went and called the child's mother.

9 And Pharaoh's daughter said unto her, Take this child away, and nurse it for me, and I will give thee thy wages. And the woman took the child, and nursed it.

10 And the child grew, and she brought him unto Pharaoh's daughter, and he became her son. And she called his name Moses: and she said, Because I drew him out of the water.

Acts 7.22.

22 And Moses was learned in all the wisdom of the Egyptians, and was mighty in words and in deeds.

Golden Text—Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it. —Prov. 22.6.

It is a far cry from the time when a king might arbitrarily order the death of every male child born to a certain class in his kingdom, to the time when we have universal education paid for from the public treasury and laws forbidding child labor.

This thought is suggested for the benefit of those who insist that the world is growing worse and will continue to grow worse until destroyed.

It is our perspective which is at fault. We have not the vision to consider time in thousands of years and insist on measuring in lifetimes and setting a standard accordingly.

About thirty-five hundred years ago the Pharaohs of Egypt, probably the most potent monarch in the world at that time, was told by some of his wise men that a child should be born among the Hebrews who would bring about a revolution and overthrow the kingdom. In those days the kings believed in direct action and this king took immediate measures to make this prophecy void. He ordered that every boy born to a Hebrew woman be killed.

We know that the race has made great progress in civilization since the time of Rameses II, but fifteen hundred years after that time a Herod followed exactly the same course and for the same reasons. He had heard that Jesus was to be born at a certain time and was willing to murder every boy baby to destroy the Savior. Evidently progress toward the sanctity of childhood and human life had not gone very far in fifteen hundred years.

It has been nearly two thousand years since that order of Herod and today the life of childhood of every class is surrounded by the limitless care of the nation and backed by the nation's wealth. Human life is placed above property in value and sacredness. In this great nation of ours we do not know what real poverty is. Women have been lifted fro mslavery and the whims of men to a place by man's side.

This great turn in the tide of events marked its beginning when Jesus was born and when He died on the cross. There was no real progress in humanity and Christianity until that time. It is not to be wondered at that we date our calendars, our measure of time, from the birth of Christ.

Coming into Egypt under a friendly king, when Joseph was prime minister, the family of Jacob numbered seventy souls. For awhile they were honored guests. Land was apportioned to them and they lived in peace and happiness. Then the wind changed. Joseph died and a new dynasty appeared. His people, now grown to a great multitude, were a threat, or were so considered by the Egyptians. They were made slaves, burden bearers, builders of irrigation works and stone cities.

Four hundred years had passed and God had not yet completed his promise to Abraham. Among the people of the house of Levi, the priestly house, were a young man and a young woman, Amram and Pochebed. They fell in love and were married and to them were born two children, Miriam and Aaron. Then came the cruel order of the king when their second son was born. Read the story in the first chapters of Exodus, how the babe was consigned to an ark and the small vessel floated on the waters of the Nile. How it was found by the daughter of the Pharaoh and adopted by her and named Moses.

It is told, I do not know if the story is true, that oil was discovered in Egypt because one of the officials of the Standard Oil Company was a Bible student. He read the story of the ark, how it was treated with asphalt and made watight and decided that there must be oil there, and oil they found.

Moses was born to carry out the promises of God and to deliver the children of Israel from the Egyptian slavery, train them to be citizens capable of self government and show them the land where they should become a great nation. This is the way God does things. He picks his instruments, prepares men and women for work. If he wanted to He could have led the Hebrews out of Egypt without a struggle, along rosy paths of ease into another garden of Eden. God prefers for you and me to work out our own salvation. We are not worth being saved if we are too lazy and of too little faith to make the effort.

Josephus goes a little more into detail about the birth and childhood of Moses. He says that Moses was the most beautiful child ever born, that as a boy men and women would turn about on the street to look at him ,that he was of large stature and wonderful face and figure. He also recounts that when but twenty years old Moses led the Egyptian army to victory in a war with the Ethiopians and married an Ethiopian princess.

As the son of the princess, Moses was educated in the temples. There were no kindergartens in Egypt, no public schools, no education except for the priesthood and the members of the royal family. The Egyptians led the world in the study of science and mathematics and it was all made a part of the religious hierarchy and kept secret from the people. Many writers believe that the Egyptians were monotheists and that when Moses told Pharaoh "I AM hath sent me," the king understood exactly what he meant, he understood that I AM meant the one God.

Moses ,then, was carefully educated, became master of all the lore of the priesthood, was initiated into the secret mysteries of the cult, which ruled the rulers, was equipped to succeed the Pharaoh as the ruler of the land. But this was not to be. Moses had been given these opportunities for another purpose, very different from sitting on the throne of Egypt. He needed this education, as a potential ruler, he needed to know the laws of all nations which were taught him, he needed to know how to lead men and how to teach and God arranged for him to get this prepartion.

Moses was undoubtedly the best educated and the wisest man of his times ad it was for this reason that he was chosen to lead a great people. He was competent to be a great leader, a great lawgiver, a great stateman and to live in fame and honor wherever men read history. He represents to us more than just a great man of many abilities, he means to us the man who lived close to God, who never moved without talking it over with God and who was given his strength and power by the Almighty

May we not believe that the same source of power, the same leadership, the same avenue of contact which Moses used, is open for each one of us today.—The Republic Syndicate.

Keep Your Hens Laying

That is easier said than done. For the past few months that has been easy, but they are slowing up now and many of them will quit altogether but much may be done to keep up the egg supply and prolong the laying season by proper feeding.

Try this formulae and note results: Feed all the Ful-o-Pep Egg Mash the hens will eat, feed one third of the weight of mash eaten during the day, of Ful-o-Pep Scratch grains at night—only one feed a day—give them plenty of fresh water and plenty of green stuff.

DON'T TRY to make your hens lay through their moult. When they begin to moult cut out the mash and feed lots of grain and rich fattening feed and they will get through and be ready for business quicker.

PLENTY OF NOISE.

The summer klaxon contest in Corsicana is now on in full blast—with strong accent on the blast. Every evening about 7 o'clock this contest starts in earnest and as the time stretches into the wee sma' hours of the night the number of contestants increase and the automobile is given a hard, grinding workout. We have no authoritative information that it is a contest but sunrise as much for it would seem there is no good reason for all of the noise unless it a contest and suitable prizes are to be awarded the winner. One of the most popular tests of the hardihood of the horn, or the nerves of the citizenship, is for two cars to dash down the street, neck and neck, with the hand of the drivers resting heavily on the klaxon control, emiting woeful and nerve racking noises—no it is not a race—as the cars do not seem to try to pass each other—it is just another entry in the klaxon contest. An occasional whoop of the occupants of the cars coupled with the stacatto explosions as the engines backfire is added to give emphasis to the horn "holler." It must be fine sport, from the number participating in this pastime, even though it causes those nervously afflicted, the sick and the would be sleepers to start from the bed or chair as if they were shot from a gun. The restless baby also comes in for its share of the punishment as these klaxon contestors continue merrily on their way.

And then when the car conductor has broken his horn holding hand or the gas has given out, or his physical make-up has failed to rise to the meeting of additional noise making contests and the restless sleeper is hoping that peaceful quiet will sooth his frayed nerves and unbroken sleep will come to his relief—then like a panther in deep pain comes a series of screeches which makes one's blood run cold—but don't get excited—it is just a flock of trains entering or leaving the railroad yards of Corsicana.

But why be an old fogy and register a kick—it is just the price we pay for living in this fast and progressive age and the price we pay for living in a wide-awake and peppy city—

Although there are many cities in the United States with much larger population than Corsicana enjoys—

And automobiles are operated without any unnecessary noise—and when there is any unnecessary noise in the operation of an automobile the participants in this pastime feel the firm grip of the law.

The horn on an automobile is put there to sound a warning to avoid accidents—not as a sleep chaser and a nerve wracker.

A speedy termination of the klaxon contest in Corsicana is hoped for.

In connection with those who abuse their horns during traffic tie-up the Philadelphia Record has the following to say about the noise-making motorists:

"As a by-product of increasing congestion in the city streets, many motorists have adopted recently the odious habit of sounding their horns violently as an expression of discontent whenever they feel that they are being unduly delayed by the traffic officers.

"Frequently it is necessary to halt a line of cars a block or more long in order to clear a cross street. Drivers possessing elementary instincts of good manners endure these momentary stoppages with a decent tranquility. But in every jam there are sure to be some with so perverted a sense of humor or so exaggerated an idea of their own importance that they make the neighborhood hideous with raucous blasts of impatience. Such demonstrations are not merely futile and idiotic, but are objectionable to every normal person within hearing.

"An automobile horn is a safety device. Its only proper function is to give warning, and its use by thick-witted drivers to exhibit their ill temper is becoming a public nuisance. It would be a wholesome thing if these noisy vulgarians were made aware, by means of a few arrests, that their offensive conduct will not be tolerated."

BRAVE MANNERS

During his long military career and in many campaigns General Cornelius Francis Clery, the British general who died recently, desired to be conspicuous on the firing line so continued to wear the scarlet tunic after the British army had adopted the sober khaki.

Not knowing the bravery of the old soldier and mistaking his reasons for wearing the bright scarlet tunic, his countrymen sometimes referred to him as "a military dandy of the old school."

The British general was probably no more of a military dandy than General George A. Custer in fiercely fought battles of the Civil War. Custer always sought the post of danger, and his uniform was about as brilliant as the plumage of a Baltimore oriole He explained why he went in for bright colors, wore a big hat, and let his hair grow long. He was only 23 when he won the brevet of brigadier general by gallantry in action. Promoted over the heads of veteran officers, he felt that he must not only lead his men but be so conspicuously dressed that they would always know him on the field and have no excuse for not following him into the ranks of the enemy. So he dressed gayly for the part, and was willing to be called a dandy. He chiefly affected a scarlet scarf, or bandanna, which he draped about his uniform.

LIFE WITHOUT FAITH

It is late in the day to draw an analogy betwee nthe attempt of the Russian Soviet to eradicate religion and the similar attempt made during the French revolution. It needed no sermon to exhort the world to pray for the inevitable. Facts are unchangeable and, in the matter of religious belief, men and women are the least destructible of these facts.

Not from one but from many a source comes the same manner of evidence. Here the Russian people squander their savings on an ikon, there they garnish a church; here they harbor a fugitive priest and there they demand the rites for burial. At Tompsk the peasants prayed for rain. Almost, in soviet eyes, a counter revolution. The petitioners were condemned to die. Then the remainder of the population prayed for rain and also for a miracle to save the lives of the condemned.

There never existed the dictatorship that would cope with that. Faith, when fundamental, is akin to martyrdom, and knows no logic. It has passed the point of organization decrees and political principles. It is hungry and, since man first trod the earth, in his moments of greatest sublimity he has looked upward toward the source of light and has believed in a Father who wishes good for His children.

For the great mass of mankind being children, a theory of chemical reaction leaves the soul empty and distrustful. The great why of life focuses simply and naturally in a superior force which never can have permitted the evolution of the sensitive thing which is life in man merely as a laboratory experiment. Moreover this trustfulness is accented by the abiding conviction that faith is innocent.

So it is with Russia's millions. God, abolished by proclamation, finds Him a temple in the hearts of the people where no soviet writ may run, however glib its phrases and rich its pledges. Life without faith is a poor thing.

Perhaps summer is the time of weddings because summer clothes don't cost so much as winter clothes.

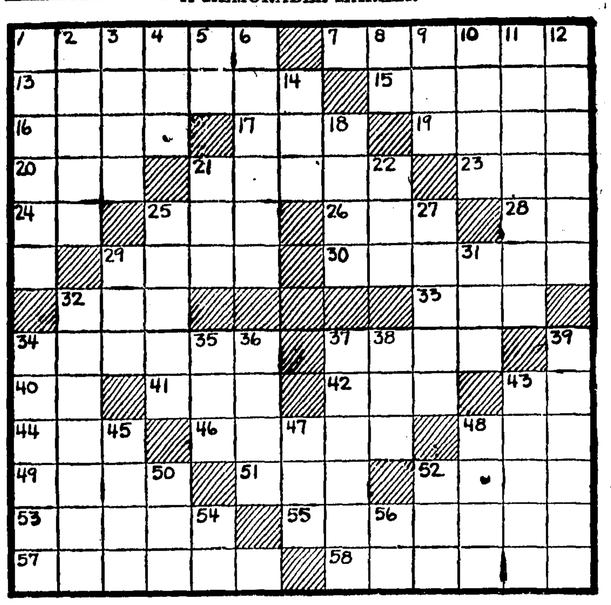

The old man can't work your way through the school of experience.

Golf is running baseball a close race in the summer popularity contest.

There is a lot of money in working, but it is hard to get.

HIGHWAYS IN GOOD CONDITION IN MOST SECTIONS PRESENT

Highways for the past several days have been in favorable condition for vacationists, according to reports received at the Chamber of Commerce. Official information has been supplemented by postal reports received daily on some of the longer routes by Corsicana tourists.

J. S. Baker, traveling in a light car, reached Hope, Ark., in 12 hours and reports roads generally good, except short rough places. In going on to Brinkley, Ark., he found roads in fine shape except dirt between Arkadelphia to Malvern and this had been dragged into a smooth crown.

Roads from Hope, Ark., to Memphis and thence to Louisville, Tenn., are reported in fast time shape on the whole by E. D. McCarver.

W. R. Beard made it from Corsicana to Monroe, La., via Tyler in one day's running time. He reports roads fair between Corsicana and Tyler, except ten miles of fairly rough road through the Trinity bottoms. There is a detour for a bridge beyond the river.

SAYS HIS HANDLING OF SYSTEM MADE STATE CONSIDERABLE MONEY

By Associated Press.

Livingston, Texas, July 8.—James E. Ferguson defended the administration's management of the state prison system in an address here Wednesday. Light showers fell several times while he was talking, but failed to scatter

"When I was governor," he said, "I handed over $1,180,000 cash in the prison fund to the crowd that succeeded me. My wife inherited from the Neff administration $1,800,000 debts in the prison system. The legislature gave her $100,000 to run the system. The debts have been paid and when you give my wife a second term the prison system will make another million dollars for the state."
